

CONSPIRACY CHARGES EXPECTED TO RESULT

Palm Mixed With Cotton Seed Oil for Oleomargarine.

CHICAGO, April 11.—The United States district attorney's office is investigating circumstances that may result in charges of conspiracy to evade revenue laws against William J. Moxley, the Chicago butterine manufacturer, and the Louisville Cotton Oil Company of Louisville, Ky.

The evidence taken before the Louisville grand jury is said to show that the Louisville Cotton Oil Company used at least 2 per cent of palm oil in mixtures with cotton seed oil. Proof is also said to have been secured that this mixture was then sent to the Moxley factory and used in making oleomargarine, giving to the product a color like that of pure butter.

The punishment for conspiracy to defraud the Government is a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than two years, or both.

PUBLIC BATHS AND COMFORT STATIONS

Inspector Davis Reports Them Feasible for National Capital.

H. B. Davis, Inspector of Plumbing, has submitted to the District Commissioners a report upon his recent visit to Boston and New York to inspect the public baths, floating baths, and public comfort stations in those cities. The report contains a detailed description of the various facilities for bathing and public comfort, with drawings of the buildings and photographs of the interior rooms.

The report is quite voluminous, and is accompanied with the official reports of the directors for the last fiscal year. Mr. Davis shows that the baths and other features described are in excellent working order, and are a great convenience to the public. He enters a plea in the report for the establishment in this city of public comfort stations modeled upon those in Boston. He believes them practicable for the Capital City, and proves they could be erected and maintained at comparatively small cost.

CLEANING MILK CANS BY MEANS OF STEAM

C. F. Doane Thinks Plant Would Not Cost Over $200.

C. F. Doane, of the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station, has written to the District Commissioners expressing certain views relative to the cleaning of milk cans by dealers in the city, before they are returned to the shipper. His letter was called forth by the printed reports of the hearing on the subject last Thursday before the Commissioners.

Mr. Doane is the experimental dairyman and bacteriologist at the station, and says he has given the subject under consideration much attention. He says he has had practical experience in trying to clean the cans returned from Washington by the dealers, and with the best facilities there is great difficulty in doing it properly. He believes in the majority of instances the cans are not cleaned and cannot be sterilized by the farmers before they are filled and used again. Mr. Doane expresses the opinion that not one-fourth of the farmers have facilities which can be recognized as proper for the cleaning and sterilizing of milk cans.

Much of the letter is taken up with a discussion of the danger of the bacteria in milk resulting from the use of unclean cans. It is shown they are not only dangerous, but depreciate the value of milk as a food product.

Mr. Doane takes the representative of the Walker-Gordon Laboratory, who gave his testimony at the hearing, severely to task, saying his words before the Commissioners do not tally with the care and scrupulous cleaning and sterilizing of everything connected with the establishment in daily practice.

Mr. Doane commends the Health Department for the stand it has taken and hopes it will be successful in forcing the dealers to clean the cans before they are sent back to the shipper.

Mr. Doane goes into a statement of the cost of cleaning the milk receptacles by steam, and shows the cost of a plant for such purposes of the capacity of a thousand gallons a day to be quite small, not more than $200 for the beginning and the salary of a cheap man afterward.

Furthermore, Mr. Doane says that no city dairy laying any claim to decency can afford to be without a steam plant for cleaning cans and other receptacles.

SPEEDWAY READY IN LESS THAN TWO MONTHS

Fine Drive From Seventeenth Street to Long Bridge.

Colonel Bingham, Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds, announces that the new speedway, reaching from Seventeenth and B Streets northwest to the Long Bridge, will be completed by the first of July. At present the work is about half done. The bedrock has been laid over a large part of the road. Some difficulty has been experienced in obtaining the fine rock for the two top layers, but this trouble has been overcome and the work is being pushed rapidly forward.

Though termed a speedway, the new road will be so hard that it is a question whether horsemen will wish to speed their horses there. It could more properly be called a park drive.

The plan for Potomac Park, now known as the flats, drawn up by Colonel Bingham, contains a straightaway mile speedway that should delight the heart of all horse trotters. Whether his plans for this large area now lying idle will be consummated depends entirely upon what Congress decides in the next few years.

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS IN BEEF MERGER CASE

Intimated That Packers May Be Adjudged in Contempt.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Has United States District Attorney Betha been conferring with officials of the Federal Department of Justice concerning further proceedings in the beef merger case?

Mr. Betha has just returned from Chicago, after several days absence on what he says was private business. Among local federal officials attention is called to the fact, however, that the decision against the Northern Securities Company will greatly facilitate the prosecution of such corporations. The opinion in such circles is general that it would not be surprising if the District Attorney is planning to bring the packers into court on contempt proceedings.

They say the method would be an excellent one of testing the legality of the organization they have recently formed to control the packing interests of the country.

ALEXANDRIA NEWS NOTES.

Attempted Jail Delivery.

What, if it had not been discovered, would have been a successful jail delivery was prevented by City Sergeant Cox and William E. Candler, warden of the jail, yesterday evening. Shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday evening, Warden Candler was notified by some of the negro inmates of the jail that an attempt to break jail was being made by Perry Shields, a negro who was sent to jail a few weeks ago by the mayor in the police court to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of robbing the store of Messrs. Berheimer, on King Street.

Upon an investigation by the warden and City Sergeant Cox, it was discovered that a board on the east wall of the jail, in the room where Shields was kept, had been removed and about two feet of the wall dug away. Only one more foot remained and a hole would have been made through the wall.

The warden discovered an iron bar and a piece of iron bedstead in Shields' possession and it is supposed it was with these tools that he did the digging. After the discovery Shields was placed in solitary confinement and will remain there until his case is called up before the special grand jury which convenes next Monday.

CHICAGO UNIVERSITY NOW HAS A ROMANCE

Dr. Manley Engaged to Countess Cipriana.

CHICAGO, April 11.—For the first time since the University of Chicago was founded a purely faculty romance has culminated in an engagement.

Professors and the university community generally were surprised yesterday when it became known on the campus that Countess Lisi C. Cipriana, instructress in French and Italian literature, and Dr. James Matthews Manley, head of the department of English, are engaged. Three years ago Countess Cipriana came to America to complete her college education. Immediately she took high rank as a student.

She finished her course with honors, and before her first year of residence was over she had earned all of the degrees that the university could give her—the A. B., M. A., and Ph. D. She was appointed to an instructorship in French for two years, while Dr. Manley has been teaching the English drama.

The wedding will take place in June. Countess Cipriana is a daughter of Marquis Cipriana, an aged and distinguished Italian statesman and soldier, a brother of the famous General Cipriana, of whom Mrs. Browning wrote in terms of highest praise.

While Prof. Manley has been a member of the Quadrangle Club, he maintained an elegant home at 5524 Monroe Avenue.

PASSOVER FESTIVAL BEGINS THIS EVENING

For Eight Days No Leavened Bread to Be Eaten.

At sunset this evening in every synagogue the celebration of the ancient Jewish festival of Pesach—the Passover—will begin.

For eight days nothing that is leavened will be found in any true Jewish household. Real bread is banished, and the descendants of Abraham will stay their stomachs with unleavened bread. But there will be baked meats, fish, vegetables, and delicacies galore for every Passover feast in the homes of the faithful.

The formal services of the synagogue are not always followed by the home ceremonial, which is the keynote of the Passover celebration. Jewish congregations classed as "reformed" or "conservative" allow large liberty to individual inclination in this regard.

But assertion of freedom from the restraints of the Passover season is comparatively rare among those of the new faith. Nearly all observe the ancient ceremonial as did their ancestors for many centuries.

In every Jewish family the Passover season is celebrated, according to traditional rites, as a sort of religious independence day.

The home service is held in every household after the religious exercises at the synagogue, on the first and second evenings of the festival. There is a bounteous collation, with wine, unleavened bread and bitter herbs, of which all partake in remembrance of the bitterness of bondage in Egypt.

The bitter herbs are dipped in a paste made from nut kernels, apples, almonds, ginger, cinnamon and wine. Two days at the beginning and two at the closing of the Passover season are religiously observed by all orthodox Jews. All the world over the children of Abraham celebrate the Passover as did their forefathers since the days of Moses.

CASTRO GIVES BOWEN FREE HAND WITH ALLIES

Will Not Interfere in Negotiations
Thus Far Conducted by the Minister.

Minister Bowen left Washington this morning to go to New York, where he will remain until Wednesday. He was elated at receiving word from President Castro indicating that his procedure in the settlement of the claims of the powers against the South American republics was satisfactory in every particular and would be adopted without change.

When Mr. Bowen learned a few weeks ago that a representative of the Seligman banking house had gone to Caracas to see President Castro, he feared the agent might be successful in an effort to induce the President to accept a loan, at a high rate of interest, and pay all claims against the Venezuelan government and thus overthrow all of Mr. Bowen's diplomatic negotiations.

To counteract any influence the financial agent might exert, Mr. Bowen sent Senator Pulido to Caracas bearing a letter explaining in detail the negotiations that have been underway between representatives of the allies and Mr. Bowen and urging the President not to interfere in any manner. Mr. Bowen has now learned that Senator Pulido has started back with a letter from Castro, and that the latter will leave everything with Mr. Bowen.

Be Killed by Falling Log.

BOSTON, April 11.—After passing through countless dangers with Lieutenant Peary, on one of his voyages toward the North Pole, "Abc" Carned met his death yesterday at the New Cambridge Bridge.

He had recently been employed by the contractors who are constructing the abutments of the bridge, and was engaged yesterday near that now being placed on the Cambridge shore. Just above him was a pile of logs to be used as a foundation.

A heavy rope, which held these logs snappened, and they bounded down the embankment. Carned was struck and his head was badly crushed.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY

TAYLOR CONVALESCENT

Mr. Taylor, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, has nearly recovered from his illness and will resume his duties Monday. There was no foundation for the story to the effect that Assistant Secretary Ailes will continue in the service beyond April 15, on account of Secretary Shaw not being ready to appoint a successor or because of Mr. Taylor's illness. Mr. Ailes said today that he would go with the Riggs National Bank on April 15.
